Hello Wildcat Families-

Two Weston High School feel good stories for today!
These are just two examples of how remarkably kind, caring, and special our students/your children are.

First, as students entered a classroom last week a WHS teacher shared that their family dog of ten plus years was not doing well and may not make it through the long weekend. One of their students approached them after class and requested a picture of the dog. The teacher said, "Sure, but may I ask why you would like a picture of my dog?"

The student responded, "I am going to paint a portrait of your dog so you can always remember him." How amazing is that?!

Second, I recently had a procedure done to my right temple (skin cancer spot) causing a funny looking black eye. No less than thirty students checked in with me today, asking what was going on and if I was ok. After brief light-hearted lectures on making sure they wear sunscreen, each student wished me the best. One student joked, "You look tough Mr. Peri! None of the other principals in our league are going to mess with you!” I was deeply touched by the care these students showed me. I was so impressed by their genuine care and empathy.

The Morals of the Stories...

1. Be kind
2. Take care of others
3. Wear sunscreen

We hope you and yours had a safe and relaxing holiday weekend. Eighteen school days until the next break, and thirty-one days until the end of 2020...

We've got this!

Truly and sincerely,

Paul Peri and Kelly Flynn

One administrative item to add...our doors open at 8:30 each morning. Our first block starts at 8:45. There has been an increasing number of students pushing the top of the hour. We are so fortunate to have the later start time and appreciate all the efforts to get our Wildcats here on time.
